CHARLOTTE AMALIE, ST THOMAS TO FRANCIS BAY, ST JOHN

DAY 1

The busy harbour of Charlotte Amalie is crowded with boutiques and restaurants. Step aboard and cruise to Hurricane Hole on St John, where you can explore by kayak or enjoy snorkelling with the fishes. Spend the afternoon relaxing on deck surrounded by the national park’s white beaches, emerald cays and turquoise waters.
HURRICANE HOLE TO CANE GARDEN BAY, TORTOLA

DAY 2

Cruise across the border to the British Virgin Islands. Drop anchor at Cane Garden Bay and take the tender ashore to climb Mount Sage or simply to have fun at one of the bustling beach bars at Soper's Hole.

The British Virgin Islands were an early haunt of buccaneers and pirates, and it was Dutch buccaneers who first settled in Tortola in 1648.
CANE GARDEN BAY TO NORMAN ISLAND
DAY 3

Cruise through the Sir Francis Drake Passage to Norman Island, reputedly named after pirate Captain Norman who was apprehended and hanged in the early seventeen hundreds. Swim in Deadman's Bay before heading out to dine at the legendary Willy T schooner, anchored just off Norman Island.
NORMAN ISLAND TO PETER ISLAND

DAY 4

After an eventful night it's just a short hop across to neighbouring Peter Island where you can spend the morning swimming and relaxing around the secluded White Bay. For divers in the party, the underwater habitat around RMS Rhone is close by and a must-visit - numerous artifacts deposited when the Rhone went down in 1867 are still visible today. Keep an eye out for the wreck's resident octopus and turtles too.
PETER ISLAND TO THE BATHS, VIRGIN GORDA

DAY 5

Cruise to Virgin Gorda and discover the secluded rock pools of The Baths. Created by huge granite boulders, the waters around this unique geologic formation are perfect for snorkelling.
THE BATHS TO NORTH SOUND, VIRGIN GORDA

DAY 6

Head to the island’s North Sound and anchor in the huge expanse of sheltered waters. After devastating hurricanes tore through this area in autumn 2017, an enormous rebuild programme is underway and the Bitter End Yacht Club is due to reopen in late 2019. Activities abound however, from snorkelling the reefs to water-skiing and testing your skills with some small-boat sailing from the rental outfits on the beach.
VIRGIN GORDA TO ANEGADA

DAY 7

The scrub island of Anegada, the northernmost of the British Virgin Islands, is surrounded by coral reef and the waters are teeming with exotic fish. Spend the afternoon snorkelling amidst the small wrecks that dot the coastline or visit the secluded beaches of Loblolly Bay and Cow Wreck Beach. The island is home to flamingos, rock iguanas and rare plant species like sea lavender.
ANEGADA TO WHITE BAY, JOST VAN DYKE

DAY 8

From the peaceful anchorage of The Settlement, cruise to the secluded anchorage of White Bay. Step ashore onto the lively island of Jost Van Dyke, sway to reggae tunes and tuck into a feast of fresh lobster at Ivan’s Stress Free Bar.

Saint Vincent and the Grenadines
Hope Spot

The St. Vincent and the Grenadines (SVG) Marine Area Hope Spot is highly regarded by many as one of the most beautiful, pristine, world known destinations for marine ecotourism - a true jewel of the Caribbean. Untouched- lush flora and fauna. Rich marine life. Picturesque scenery. A chain of 32 cays and islands. Turquoise waters. Think Pirates of the Caribbean. Abundant reef-life, normally found at 80 ft. in most dive destinations around the globe, flourishes here at depths of only 25 ft. with an extraordinary variety of critters and tropical reef fish, including marine turtles. About 20 or so species of whales and dolphins can be found in the waters of St. Vincent and the Grenadines year round. Controversially, the islands have had a long history of humpback whaling that started in 1875 as a primarily commercial activity for the indigenous peoples. The establishment of a Marine Mammal Protected Area within the SVG Hope Spot and an economically viable solution for smart mariculture in lieu of whaling is now being developed. This will allow us to collect data, monitor and protect the populations of dolphin, whales and other species under IUCN’s Endangered status. Our goal is to restore marine life for present and future generations to enjoy and treasure the natural beauty of the ocean. - Written by the proposing organization/individual
